DiSalle Highway Veto Nullified By Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle finally has "had it" from the Republican-controlled legislature — after 4½ months.

With the help of 23 members of the governor's own party—19 in the House and 4 in the Senate—the GOP has overridden a DiSalle veto of a bill to take about $15 million a year from the Ohio Highway Department and give it to local governments for street and road financing.

The Senate vote was 24-14 (23 needed) and in the House, which took it up first, it was 100-35 (84 needed).

DeSalle has vetoed three bills. No attempt ever was made to override a veto on a jobless pay bill. Consideration of trying to override this week's veto of a bill on the voting rights of servicemen who intend to make Ohio their home still is pending.

All the Democrats who voted Tuesday to override DiSalle's veto of the bill to spread $15 million over Ohio's cities, counties and townships are from Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) with five exceptions.

They are Sen. Arthur Blake, D-Belmont, one of DiSalle's outspoken critics in his own party, and Rens, Thomas P. Gilmartin, D - Mahoning; Luther Mylander, D-Ottawa; Virtus J. Kruse, D-Fayette, and Arnold Potts, D-Putnam. Arguments were the same as those when the bill originally was passed by both houses. Democrats argued the state would not be able to match federal highway spending. Republicans contended the state highway department would have plenty of money, even without the $15 million a year.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, took the unusual step during debate of surrendering the speaker's rostrum to House Majority Leader Robert Taft Jr., R-Hamilton, so Cloud could participate in the discussion.

Unshot of the matter—an action pledged by Republicans in their 1960 state platform — is to give local governments every penny of the money collected from motor vehicle license fees.

The $15 million in question, which now is returned to local governments beginning next Jan. 1, was used to help finance operations of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, including the Bureau of Motor Vehicles and Highway Patrol. Republicans propose to finance the department from other highway revenues, particularly the last two cents of the gasoline tax.

Patrol Nabs Armed Youths

Two Columbus youths were apprehended near South Bloomfield yesterday by the State Highway Patrol on a charge of auto larceny.

The youths, 15 and a 14-year-old, are in Pickaway County Jail, booked for an auto larceny in Jackson.

Patrolman Richard Saunders, off duty yesterday, apprehended the duo after he had spotted the stolen auto near South Bloomfield.

The juveniles had several weapons in their possession when the matter was investigated. Patrolmen found a single-barrel shotgun, shotgun shells, a straight-edge razor, a hunting knife, a heavy steel lock on a chain, and burglary tools in the stolen auto.

The boys are being held for further investigation. The case probably will be referred to Franklin or Jackson County juvenile authorities.

Expectant Spaniel Mothers 5 Rabbits

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Bootsie is a 7-year-old cocker spaniel who is expecting a family of her own in about a week.

For five days she's been playing mother to five little rabbits which apparently took to Bootsie while she was lying outdoors.

"The awful part is that poor Bootsie thinks they're hers," explained her owner, Mrs. Stanley Atlas.

Paving of Streets Is in Full Swing

Circleville's street repair problem has taken a turn for the better and progress in the matter since Monday raised optimism last night in City Council.

Council's service committee reported paving is in full swing on Pickaway and Ohio Sts. and that more work is planned to follow.

Paving started Monday on Pickaway St. and similar work was initiated shortly after on E. Ohio St.

Charles Kirkpatrick, John Jenkins and Joe Bell, members of the service committee, said present plans call for paving on Pickaway St. from Ohio St. to Northridge Road.

THEY said additional work is planned on Ohio St. from Renick Ave. to Court St. Also on the project is paving at the Griner Ave.-Brink Drive area and on E. Morand St. from Mingo St. to the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing.

Several blocks on Pickaway St. already have been covered with blacktop (T-35) and are open to traffic. The paving completed is in 36-foot center strips. The committee said parking space on the street will be surface treated.

According to the members, the parking areas are getting surface treatment mainly because not all curbs and gutters have been completed along the street.

The same center strip paving plan probably will be called for in the planned work on the other streets. The committeemen said widths of the center strips may vary here.

Council was informed that excellent progress has been made so far this week on the Pickaway-Ohio undertaking. The George W. Van Camp Co. has handled the paving after preliminary work was completed by Service Director Harlo Arledge and his staff.

Aware of the pressing street repair problem facing the city, committee members pointed out

Heed Blocks, Drivers Told

Circleville Police and City Councilmen today joined to request local motorists to observe barricades where streets are being repaired.

Sorely needed paving, started this week on Pickaway St., ran into difficulties when several motorists ignored barricades and drove on fresh asphalt, officers reported. They said resulting damage caused extra work for construction crews.

Officers said barricade violators are subject to arrest under a city ordinance. Violators will be cited, they added.

Councilmen said several newly paved areas on Pickaway St. are open to traffic. However, they urged drivers to use detours where work is still in progress.

Ratterman Defense Ready To Show Crusader 'Framed'

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—Defense Attorney Henry Cook declared today he planned to show George Ratterman was framed, starting more than a month ago.

Cook made the statement at the opening of Ratterman's trial on charges of breach of peace, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest, stemming from his arrest early May 9 with a dancer in a room at the Glenn Hotel.

Ratterman, former Cleveland Browns pro football player, is the candidate of a reform group for sheriff of Campbell County. He has pledged to fight alleged vice conditions in the county.

Cook's statement came in a heated exchange with Prosecutor Thomas Hirschfeld.

He said: "This frameup was set up immediately after he announced candidacy for sheriff on April 4. We must show what happened after that date."

Cook pleaded innocent for Ratterman this morning and said he planned to show that the arrest was trumped up.

Cook's hot exchange with Hirschfeld came after the prosecutor objected to Cook's questioning of Police Sgt. Robert McSorley about bank accounts of the Fraternal Order of Police in Newport.

Hirschfeld said, "I question the relevancy of this question."

Cook retorted, "We'll connect it up."

Judge Joseph Rolf sustained the objection but Cook said immediately he wanted a new witness subpoenaed — Detective John Kenneth Jones.

that adverse weather the past few weeks has been a real stopper in getting the work under way. "A continued weather break will allow paving to hold forth in full swing", they said.

ACCORDING to the report last night, about 750 tons of asphalt already have been used. The committee said this is less than half of the material of the total estimate, giving an indication that a considerable amount of paving can still be done on the other streets.

Members said they are trying to stretch the repair work as far as funds in the street construction, maintenance and repair fund will permit. Federal aid already has been requested and there is hope additional help may come from the state following recent legislation in the State Legislature earmarking more tax money for local governments.

The committee expressed confidence that the current repair problem will be improved during the coming weeks.

FHA Is Voted Extra Billion

Panel Says Housing Agency about Broke

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee today voted unanimously to increase by a billion dollars Federal Housing Administration authority to insure home mortgages.

Sen. John Sparkman, D - Ala., said the resolution carrying the increase was being handled on an emergency basis because the FHA is about out of insurance authority. A pickup in home sales is partly responsible, he said.

Sparkman said he would try to get the Senate to approve the resolution Thursday and hoped for equally prompt action in the House. FHA's present insurance authority ceiling is $37.5 billion. The committee interrupted its work on President Kennedy's general housing bill to take up the emergency resolution.

The $4.79 billion omnibus bill would remove the dollar ceiling altogether on FHA home mortgage insurance but it is not expected to clear Congress for several weeks.

The banking group today approved the key housing programs recommended by Kennedy, indicating that the omnibus bill will be approved about as the administration submitted it.

These were the two most important new provisions in the bill which were approved: New government - insured 40-year, no-down-payment mortgages designed to help moderate income families buy homes by cutting the monthly payment.

Home improvement loans to run as high as $10,000 with a 25-year maximum repayment period. At present these are limited to $3,500 and five years.

Some of the President's advisers are convinced that Kennedy's programs for housing, aid to education, highway construction, Social Security expansion, depressed areas and agriculture will give the economy's climb sufficient impetus.

There is a frank difference of opinion among his advisers, however. Some contend the recovery bears signs of weakness that can only be overcome by increased government spending or by tax cuts.

This group argued that even though factory sales and personal incomes showed gains, steel production remained at only about 68 per cent of capacity and little progress had been made in reducing unemployment.

But Kennedy, described as much more optimistic about the economy than he was a couple of months ago, overruled these arguments.

Before McSorley testified, Charles Lester, attorney for Miss Hodges and Carins, said he would not put on his case for Miss Hodges until the judge rules on a motion for dismissal. The judge said, however, he would continue the case under submission until he hears the cases of all three.

Mrs. Hodges originally was charged with prostitution in the case. After hearing prosecution witnesses Tuesday, Hirschfeld suggested the charge be reduced to breach of peace. Lester then moved to have both charges dismissed and the judge said he would take it under advisement.

Newport detectives, who made the raid, said they found Miss Hodges and Ratterman, only partly clad, in the hotel room after receiving a tip prostitution was going on in the hotel.

Ratterman claimed after the arrest he had been drugged and was awakened when detectives entered the room. He has claimed no one had seen Miss Hodges before.

WHO IS THERE TO MOURN LOGAN? — This question supposedly was once asked by Chief Logan of the Mingo tribe on October 10, 1774, under the towering elm. Chief Logan, himself, answered, "Not one." Today, the same question may be asked of Logan (Elm), and the answer would be, "hundreds of visitors every summer to the State Park". Big Spending Is Ruled Out By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has ruled out any massive spending efforts or insurrection tax cuts to speed the reviving U.S. economy.

Kennedy has told Democratic congressional leaders he is going along with a group of his economic advisers who believe the recovery is solidly based despite a hard core of unemployment.

This was represented as a presidential decision to gamble on the effect of measures he already has recommended to Congress—some of which have passed, some still pending.

New Juror Alibi Accepted by Judge

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — R. L. McKeighan, a farmer called for jury duty in U.S. District Court, has sent his regrets to Judge Frederick O. Mercer.

He said he didn't have the proper attire for a courtroom—and in fact had very little attire at all. Court aides investigated and found McKeighan had told the truth. A tornado Sunday had carried away most of his farmhouse, including his clothing.

McKeighan was excused. Judge Mercer observed that in a long career of listening to reasons why people should not serve on juries, this was a new one.

Logan Elm, County Shrine, Is Suffering Toll of Time

A milestone in the history of Pickaway County is slowly being destroyed by the hands of time and weather.

Logan Elm, the historical elm tree, about seven miles south of Circleville, suffered the loss of two more huge branches during high winds of Monday's storm.

The famed tree, venerated as Ohio's oldest, earned its place in history on October 10, 1774, when Logan, Chief of the Mingoes, delivered his famous speech to John Gibson, messenger of Lord Dunmore.

It was on this site that the Indian chief allegedly told Gibson, that "I rejoice at the beams of peace." But the old chief also said, "Logan never felt fear. He will not turn his heel to save his life. Who is there to mourn Logan? Not one."

THAT event, almost 187 years ago, was well documented and has gone down in history. The place where the speech was delivered has become a site for the historically curious.

The tree and park is owned by the Ohio Historical Society purchased from relatives of Major John Boggs.

Mac Noggle of the Pickaway County Historical Society, reported today that the Ohio society will probably "do everything in its power to preserve the tree."

Noggle said that a few years ago he asked a representative of the Ohio society what they were planning to do with the famous elm.

Noggle stated that if, and when, the tree dies, the society will level the tree and put a weather-capping on the trunk.

For many years the tree has been braced, with steel girders and wires. Parts of the huge limbs and trunk have been patched with concrete to slow down the decay-ing process.

VARIOUS reports were received here yesterday concerning the tree. Some said that the tree was completely destroyed and about the only thing left to do 'is cut it up for souvenirs'. Others stated that the tree was still standing.

A huge double - limb was broken off during the storm and considerable damage has been done to the trunk of the tree, but as far as observers here could tell, the tree is not completely dead.

Members of the Ohio Historical Society are expected to inspect the tree and pronounce final judgement sometime this week.

After considerable diplomatic dickering, the conference finally opened Tuesday on the basis of a report from the control commission that in general fighting had ceased between the Pathet Lao and the pro-Western royal Lao-Lao forces of Premier Boun Oum.

Rusk made his charges as news dispatches from Laos said royal government and rebel delegates reached a surprise compromise agreement to form a coalition government and set up a joint military committee to police the truce.

But protracted negotiations are likely to be required before first the government and then the military group are actually formed.

The report of agreement at Pan Namone also raised the possibility that a single Laotian delegation might eventually be sent to Geneva, to replace the separate delegations here representing the three rival factions.

Rusk took only slight notice of the attack on American policy made by Communist Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi, saying Chen's statements about the United States "were not true and not new—we have heard them often before."

Chen Yi had charged the United States was fomenting war in Southeast Asia and had sent Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson there for that purpose. He demanded the disbanding of the U.S.-dominated Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Rusk said the threats to Southeast Asia come from the North not the South. If these threats were removed, he declared, "SEATO itself would wither away" or it has no purpose but to maintain the peace in Southeast Asia."

Council Acts on Resolution, Two Ordinances during Meet

City Council last night passed one ordinance, held another to first reading and adopted a resolution to round out a regular meeting in the local chambers.

The ordinance held to a first reading was a request for $5,000 by the water department for test drilling as part of the Waterworks Improvement project here.

Ervin Leist, Water Department head, said two sites east of the Scioto River already have been taken into consideration. He said the test boring is a necessary step in the Waterworks Improvement Plan.

Council agreed to hold the ordinance to first reading and for further study. The second reading probably will come at the next meeting.

The resolution adopted authorized the Board of Public Utilities to advertise for bids for a new half-ton truck for the water department.

The resolution vote ended in a 3-3 deadlock, but was broken when Council President Richard Penn gave an affirmative nod.

Utilities Director Leist said each year the Water Department trades off the oldest of its two trucks. He said cost for the new vehicle would be about $1,000.

The ordinance passed authorized the appropriation of $295.59 from the Waterworks operating fund to be used for the payment of taxes levied back in 1946 when the city acquired ownership of the Waterworks System.

Solicitor Kenneth Robbins told the council the first half-year taxes in 1946 had been paid to the county by the Ohio Waterworks firm, previous owners of the local system. He said the second term taxes were never paid.

The ordinance was passed on a 6-0 vote following a suspension of rules. City Auditor Marvyn Turner was authorized to draw her warrant against the incidental account of the Waterworks operating fund for payment.

Big Korean Army Swings Behind Junta

Move Labeled Setback For Deposed Regime, U.N. Chief's Position

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Radio Seoul said today Lt. Gen. Lee Han-Lim, commander of South Korea's powerful 1st Field Army, has pledged full support to objectives of the military junta now running the government.

If true, this is a setback for both the elected regime of Premier John M. Chang and for U.S. Lt. Gen. Carter B. Magruder, the commander of United Nations forces who had urged the rebel junta to return power to the regular authorities.

The radio station, controlled by the military committee of Lt. Gen. Chang Do-young, broadcast what it said was a statement of full support by Lee.

The statement declared all officers and men under Lee's command, which helps guard the Korean truce line as part of Magruder's forces, would wholly cooperate to complete the junta's revolutionary task. That task, as outlined by the junta, is to wipe out political, corruption and incompetence and rebuild South Korea.

The radio said the statement was issued through the information officer of the 1st Field Army's headquarters in Wonju, 60 miles east of Seoul.

Unconfirmed reports said Lee made the statement after he held separate conferences with Magruder and with Brig. Gen. Yoon Pal-il, a member of the junta.

Gen. Chang's revolutionary committee named a temporary cabinet made up of 24 generals, colonels and lieutenant colonels to run the government.

The junta also assembled six members of Premier John M. Chang's cabinet for a meeting in an apparent attempt to give a semblance of legal transfer of power. But Premier Chang and nine other cabinet members were in hiding, and it seemed unlikely that any transfer of power by a cabinet minority—all of whom had been under detention—could be considered legal.

The junta previously had issued a decree disbanding the national assembly.

The junta took command of the national and Seoul police, whose members clashed briefly with the rebel troops that seized control of Seoul before dawn Tuesday.

Brig. Gen. Cho Hwang-man, a former provost marshal, was named to head the National Police and Col. Lee Kwang became Seoul police director.

New police directors also were named for the eight provinces.

With Seoul quiet and the junta in control of the police, most of the estimated 3,600 troops that had entered the capital Tuesday withdrew to the suburbs. But machine gun posts remained at several key intersections and tanks were deployed on a hill overlooking the city.

U.S. Gen. Carter Magruder, the U.N. commander in Korea, tried to minimize the effect of the coup with a statement Tuesday night that it appeared to have little public support. But no open opposition was reported from outside Seoul and Chang's forces continued to claim control of the entire country.

The U.S. charge d'affaires, Marshall Green, reiterated his opposition—as the chief U.S. diplomatic representative in the country—to the overthrow of the elected government. But he added: "It will be a matter the Koreans, of course, will have to and will decide."

U.S. officials in Washington refused to comment until the situation in Korea clarified.

Seoul newspapers reported the rebel junta had instructed the foreign ministry to order all diplomatic missions abroad to inform foreign governments there would be no change in South Korea's pro-American foreign policy. The junta had said one reason it moved against Premier Chang was because his government had

Kennedy Urges Canadians To Help Fight Ideologies

OTTAWA (AP)—President Kennedy asked his Canadian neighbors today to join the American states in attempting to "contain the powerful struggle of ideologies, and reduce it to manageable proportions," to help rid the world of the threat of nuclear weapons.

In an address to the Senate and House of Commons in the Canadian Parliament, the President said the free world "should not misjudge the force of the challenge we face — a force that is powerful as well as insidious, that inspires dedication as well as fear, that uses means we cannot adopt to achieve ends we cannot permit."

"Nor can we mistake the nature of the struggle," he continued. "It is not for concessions or territory. It is not simply between different systems. It is the age-old battle for the survival of liberty itself."

The address marked the high point in Kennedy's state visit to Ottawa.

Kennedy told the Canadians that their nation has played an important and constructive role in various efforts to maintain peace.

He added: "If we can contain the powerful struggle of ideologies, and reduce it to manageable proportions, we can proceed with the transcendent task of disciplining the nuclear weapons which shadow our minds and of finding a widened range of common enterprises between ourselves and those who live under Communist rule. For in the end we live on one planet and are part of one human family; and whatever the struggles that confront us, we must lose no chance to move forward toward a world of law and of disarmament."

The President clearly asked Canada to contribute to the job of helping underdeveloped nations.

He put it this way: "It is clear that no free nation can stand alone to meet the relentless threat of those who make themselves our adversaries—that no free nation can retain any illusions about the nature of that threat—and that no free nation can remain indifferent to the

Booster Group Sets Carnival Friday Night

A youth carnival, featuring games, exhibits, door prizes and billed generally as a "good family night of fun", will be held in the Fairgrounds coliseum Friday, starting at 7 p. m.

Admission to the carnival, sponsored by the Pickaway County Boy Scout Boosters Club, is free. All proceeds obtained through the various amusements and events will be used by the Boosters to finance Scouting programs of an "extracurricular" nature.

The Boosters Club is composed of adults interested in promoting all phases of Boy Scout activity. It seeks to provide the local troops with additional educational and recreational programs for which funds from the Community Chest are not available.

Boosters chose to hold the carnival to obtain money for several summer projects.

GENERAL chairman for the carnival is Dick Compton. He is being assisted by Dale Schiff, vice chairman; Earl Palm, publicity; Wayne Griffith, ticket sales; Emerson Cline, prizes; Frank Wirth and Gene Dowler, general arrangements; and Gary Winner, special services.

About 25 different attractions will be set up in the coliseum and Booster members will work as volunteers to operate the exhibition.

Special features of the evening will include a white elephant sale, a "spook house" and an old-fashioned cake walk.

Firemen Answer Pair of Alarms

The Circleville Fire Department responded to two calls within twenty minutes last night.

The emergency ambulance was called to the Plummer Crago home, Island Rd., at 12:30 p. m., when Crago suffered a stroke and collapsed. He was ordered to a Columbus hospital.

Brush burning along the bank of Hargus Creek behind the High St. School caused the second alarm at 2:50 p. m. Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze and there was no property damage.

not been vigorous enough in its anti-communism.

Gen. Chang conferred with President Yun Po-sun, who rapidly was discarding the figurehead role allotted the president by the post-Syngman Rhee constitution. The President appeared trying to reconcile the rebel leaders and the nation's politicians.

Green also met for three hours late Tuesday with President Yun. Apparently the embassy had made no direct contact with Gen. Chang or his aides.

Seoul was quiet with most stores open. Banks and schools also reopened.

Drivers Cited Into Court

A Columbus man faced a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants today in Circleville Municipal Court.

Jack Russell, 61, pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $150 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail, and had his license suspended for six months by Judge Sterling Lamb. He was arrested by the State Highway Patrol.

Other State Patrol arrests yesterday include:

Collis A. Young, 58, of 311 E. Main St.; $15 and costs for speeding at 75 miles per hour in a 60 m. zone.

Renaud Nicholson, 46, Columbus; $20 and costs for speeding at 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Norman Paul Heltz, 24, Columbus; $15 and costs for speeding at 65 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Ethel Hackworth, 27, Columbus; $15 and costs for speeding at 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Kuhle James Rummer, 31, Columbus; $15 and costs for no 1961 vehicle registration. Rummer was arrested by city police.

VFW Requests Return of Bed

Merle Thomas, commander of the local VFW post, has requested that the person who removed a hospital bed and carriage from the front porch of the VFW building, 217 N. Court St., return it or notify the post of its location.

The apparatus, valued at about $140 was reported stolen to police last week. Thomas said no charges will be pressed if the bed is located.

steady erosion of freedom around the world.

"It is equally clear that no Western nation on its own can help those less-developed lands fulfill their hopes for steady progress. Ohio Colleges Tied To Pro-Castroites

WASHINGTON (AP) — The acting executive secretary of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee told a Senate subcommittee Tuesday that the pro-Castro organization has 23 chapters and 37 student councils throughout the United States, including three at Ohio colleges.

Richard Gibson told the Senate internal security subcommittee, however, that his organization has no list of the 7,000 members it claims to represent. He said the committee used only a general mailing list consisting of metal plates to contact individuals.

His list of chapters and student councils included groups at Antioch, Oberlin and Ohio University.

Traffic Victim's Nephew Held for Manslaughter

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—A nephew of a traffic accident victim has been charged with second-degree manslaughter in his uncle's death. Both had been drivers of automobiles which figured in an accident on U.S. 33 Tuesday.

James J. Smith, 70, of Logan, was killed when his automobile, which had been sideswiped, went into a ditch and rolled on top of him.

Don Windle, 53, of Nelsonville, driver of the other car involved and Smith's nephew, was released under $1,000 bond after being charged.

Council Hears Repercussions On Overflow of Storm Water

Circleville Council in regular session last night heard repercussions from the three violent rain storms which have struck here in the last three weeks.

What to do with surplus water caused by the storms was the center of attention. A delegation from the Norfolk Ave. area, and J. Boyd Stout, local contractor, were on hand to lodge complaints.

Merle Turner, Clarence Robison and others represented the Norfolk Ave. group. They told council the recent storms flooded basements, fouled wells for drinking water and caused other hardships.

The delegation voiced the opinion that drainage is badly needed in the area. The spokesmen also added that Norfolk Ave. is in bad condition, especially at storm time, due to large holes and other deficiencies.

COUNCIL informed the group that a special assessment plan for drainage may be the only alternative in solving the problem. The visitors said they would be willing to go along with an assessment if the price was reasonable.

Turner, speaking for the group, said about 30 lots would benefit from such a sewer project.

Councilman Charles Kirkpatrick recommended the matter be turned over to the service committee for further study. The other sojourners approved.

The committee agreed for an inspection of the area along with Service Director Harlo Arledge and Frank Baum, engineering consultant.

Councilman Boyd Horn, noting that drainage at Norfolk Ave. is inadequate, said it might be feasible to plan city water service to a fire hydrant. Ervin Leist, utilities director, was on hand to give a report on possible costs for this project.

Leist said he checked the Norfolk area this week. He said a cost for such a project probably would be in the neighborhood of $5,000.

SERVICE committee members said both the drainage and water service would be included in their study.

Stout's appearance centered on the overflow of water on Northridge Road - Route 188 area near the city corporation line. He said the recent storms have initiated the problem of what to do with all the excess water.

This Is 'Heart Attack' Season

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to affairs of the heart. But an older man's attention should turn to the heart itself. This is the advice offered by two doctors who note that this is "heart attack" season.

One of them, a heart specialist, suggests a reason for the increase in coronaries during the spring. He says there is a possibility "the sudden burst of energy, the spring urge to get out and do things after being cooped up all winter" may have something to do with it.

The other physician saw a connection between the increase in heart attacks and climatic conditions. Spring is a time of severe changes in what he calls "climate drive." The heart is under additional strain during periods of maximum climatic changes, he said.

This being the case, it behooves everyone to beware of working too strenuously in the yard and garden these days — especially those who have been sitting inside by the TV set all winter.

Men, since you are more subject to heart attacks than your spouses, you had better let your wives do the hoeing, raking, spading and the like. You can quote the doctors.

Remarks To Irk a Farmer

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a farmer gets tired of hearing:

"The government has decided it can't pay you next year for not growing corn. Is it okay, instead, if we pay you for not growing soybeans?"

"But Dad, I really want to go to Primburg Teachers' College. Why is it so important to you that I go to Vassar?"

"The farmers used to borrow from the banks. Now the banks are borrowing from the farmers."

"Daddy I found an old comic magazine in the attic full of jokes about the farmer's daughter and the hired hand. Just what is a hired hand?"

"Oh, you farmers are always hollering about something. You'd complain if they gave you the whole country on a silver platter."

"Frankly, I think it's time we legislators quit worrying so much about the farm vote. Where do most farmers live now, anyway? In the city!"

"Sorry, we just sold our last pushbutton plow. There's an old fashioned hand plow in the back lot we can lend you—that is, if you know where to find a couple of horses to pull it. I haven't seen a horse in this neighborhood in years."

"Lemme see now. First we put the harness over his head, and string it along his back—I think. Then we bent down and tightened a cinch here—or was it on the other side? To tell you the truth, it's been so long I kinda forget."

"I just saw a farmer down the road wearing overalls. What's he going on? Are they making a movie about how life was in the old days?"

"Jed, it's a delicate matter and I hate to bring it up. But junior asked if I'd please tell you to quit calling him Bub. He says it's a hick word—and nobody uses it anymore."

"Don't forget we're going to the church social tonight. Can you stop by the bakery in town and pick out a nice cake? We're all supposed to bring something."

"I don't care how much better you like them, I'm not going to stand over any steaming stove this year putting up tomatoes. If frozen vegetables are good enough for city folk, you can learn to like them, too."

"The doctor phoned and said he's just too busy to make country calls on weekends. He said if the condition doesn't clear up by next Tuesday maybe you'd better go to the hospital, and he'll drop in to see you on Wednesday."

"The supermarket over at Greenville has raised the price of eggs five cents a dozen again. What do you think farmers are made of—money? Sometimes I wish we still kept our own chickens."

"Yeah, I know it's a bad drought. But it could be worse. What if a drought ever hit Washington, D.C.?"

Marxist Principle Is Clear

For years, those who have studied Marxism and its Leninist development in Russia, have been calling attention to the fact that nothing less than the conquest of the entire Earth would satisfy the Marxist principle. This has been as clear as day since 1847. It is referred to in Communist literature as the inevitable historic clash between a new dynamic civilization and a decaying civilization which has served its purpose and is no longer needed.

Those who are unwilling to learn have asked those who for 40 years now have been warning against the menace, to refrain from exaggeration. In 1917, when the Russian Revolution occurred, there were a few who recognized the peril of the Bolshevik advance but to most they were a fanatical band of incompetents, who would shortly fail. How incorrect this judgment was is evident today from the single fact that Soviet Russia is successfully building an enormous and incongruous empire and that only the United States has the power, if not the ability, to withstand the strength of the Soviet Universal State.

Soviet Russia is the first European country since 1861 to challenge the authority of the United States in the Western Hemisphere. The last effort was that of Napoleon III to put and keep Maximilian of Austria on the throne of Mexico. The United States could do nothing about this because it was engaged in the War Between the States, but as soon as that war was over, the Monroe Doctrine was re-asserted; the Mexican rebel, Juarez, was given adequate support; Maximilian was deposed and that was the end of a European effort to place itself in an imperial position in the Western Hemisphere.

What has happened in 1961? Soviet Russia has established a Marxist fortress in Cuba, controlled by an obvious paranoic Castro, who was actually put into power by our own State Department despite the available evidence that Fidel, his brother, Raul, and many of their associates were known to have had Communist affiliation. But Cuba is not alone. British Guiana, Venezuela, Ecuador, Panama, and possibly Brazil are being ripened for Communist revolutions. And it is in the face of such conditions that the State Department involves this country in a quarrel with the Dominican Republic which could be needed in our defense at any moment. More mistakes of policy have been made during the past 30 years than seems possible.

Even Canada, with which we have had cordial relations since the War of 1812, has been discovering our weaknesses and has become tolerant of anti-American propaganda. In fact, Canada is strengthening Cuba by trading with Cuba, there being no visible guarantee that some of the goods sent is not of American origin. Canada is also trading with Red China in opposition to our and their interest. The relations between the United States and Canada should have been such that the two countries stand together, at least, on the Cuban issue.

The question arises as to what we shall accomplish with the Organization of American States. OAS is a substitute for the Monroe Doctrine. It places upon the Latin American nations the responsibilities which formerly the United States assumed. Among these is the obligation to keep Europe and Asia out of the American Hemisphere. The question that arises now is whether Soviet Russia is establishing Cuba as part of a colonial empire or a satellite or a segment of the Soviet Universal State. And must the United States accept this violation of the Monroe Doctrine?

The assumption that Cuba is today governed by Fidel Castro, as a dictator, is nonsense. Cuba is governed as East Germany is, as Hungary is; as all so-called People's Republics are, from the Kremlin. The country is full of Chinese Communists and Czechoslovakian Communists who are the effective rulers of the land. This is the technique that Soviet Russia has employed in every country that it has conquered. The so-called People's Republics are socialist states, in transition, supervised by the Kremlin until they become Soviet republics.

Whether the OAS is capable of meeting such a situation is questionable. The OAS has thus far shown an inability to live up to the Caracas Agreement because those who govern the Latin American states are afraid of student mobs and similar mass uprisings and therefore, while supporting the United States in principle, dare do nothing about such support.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IN THE MIDST OF World War I, a London production was planned for a musical that had scored a solid hit in New York. It was called "High Jinks," with book and lyrics by Otto Harbach and music by Rudolph Friml.

A month before the show opened in London, ugly rumors spread through town: Harbach and Friml, said the gossips, were obviously Germans—and who would want to patronize the work of the enemy? In vain did the producers protest that both Friml and Harbach were 100% Americans, with many Broadway hits to their credit. Only one thing was left for the producers to do—and they did it. And that's how "High Jinks" in 1916 England—a hit from the word go—was credited to a lyricist named Otto Hartley and a composer named Rudolph Freeman.

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.
Dear Doctor: Should you take vitamins before or after meals?

Miss M.D.
Dear Miss D.: During meals—in wholesome, nourishing food! If you take a vitamin pill in addition, gulp it down before eating. With that rich dessert coming along, you may not have room for it later!

Dear Doctor: My 30-year-old son spends hours reading and drinking coffee. He may finish two or three pots in one day.

What about coffee nerves?

Mrs. A.M.
Dear Mrs. M.: You certainly have them! The extra stimulation from all this coffee shouldn't hurt your son as long as he takes time out for regular meals. Three pot-fulls are perfectly safe—unless each pot holds 36 cups!

Coffee isn't poisonous unless you down 40 cups all at once!

Dear Doctor: I'm only 24 and going bald. In spite of vigorous daily brushing with nylon bristles, my hair continues to fall out.

What can I do?

Mrs. M.
Dear Mrs. C.: That vigorous brushing may be pulling out normal hair, but it will grow back when you change to a less vigorous scalp massage!

Dear Doctor: My blood pressure has dropped from 124 to 115 in one arm and 110 in the other.

Why didn't my doctor give me medicine to raise my blood pressure and even out the reading in both arms?

Miss K.D.
Dear Miss D.: Blood pressure varies from minute to minute and hour to hour. Nervous tension may skyrocket it to 140 or more, but when you calm down it may drop to an even 100.

Blood pressure in both arms rarely reads exactly alike. Normal readings can differ by as much as 10.

Dear Doctor: My boyfriend blames his black eye on a crate that fell on top of his head. Isn't this far-fetched?

Miss H.J.
Dear Miss J.: Not! Such a blow can cause bleeding so deep beneath the scalp it can't be seen.

As the blood seeps forward between tissue layers, it reaches a dead end around the upper eyelid, where the black and blue shows through. The black eye soon fades and shinier days return!

Warns Burglars

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Burglars looting coin boxes in a laundromat made so much noise they awakened a man living upstairs.

Thinking the burglars were late customers, the man called them on the laundromat pay phone and said:

"If you people don't stop making so much noise, I'm going to call the police."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Protecting the stock buyer can be a headache—especially today when so many novices or part-time investors yep to make a big killing fast.

Many are victims of their own bad judgment, although brokers say they do their best with advice and information. But many of their customers, and those of the over-the-counter market, are bent today on speculating, in the worst sense of that term.

Some are clipped by the sharp practices of manipulators, although both the government and the stock exchanges have taken steps since the market scandals of the 1920s and 1930s to police the market.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, government watchdog of the offering and sale of stocks, is launching an investigation of the second largest exchange, the American in New York, to see if tighter policing is needed.

It grows out of an SEC order for expulsion of two American Exchange members, Jerry and Gerald Re, after charges of long and widespread price, rigging and illegal stock sales.

All of the nation's 13 exchanges have rules governing member activities and requirements that stocks must reach before being listed.

Much reliance is placed on public information, companies must report their condition. Broker members must comply with exchange rules and their books are open to inspection. Spot checks are taken and publicized.

The New York Stock Exchange a month ago raised the standards for original listing of common stocks still higher. The American Exchange tightened up its rules on member activities after the SEC investigation of the now expelled members.

Chief target of the upcoming SEC probe will be that breed of brokers known as specialists, which the Re father and son were. These brokers do business on the floor of an exchange for other brokers.

The specialists handle a definite and limited number of stocks. The exchanges charge them with maintaining an orderly market—that is, with seeing that buyers and sellers can get together and that price fluctuations don't get out of hand either in big jumps or drops or in rapidity of the swings.

In some of the surging markets of recent weeks, buying and selling of many stocks, especially the new and untried ones, has been anything but orderly at times. When it gets badly out of hand and the specialists can't police their charges, exchange officials halt trading in the stock until the gyrations are controlled or the causes for mysterious swings run down.

Citizens of the Bahama island of San Salvador aren't fishing as much since the United States established a missile-tracking station there. American personnel of the station are enthusiastic spear fishermen and are happy to sell their catches.

A half-hour discussion program in which the panel was made up of talking birds, parrots, parakeets, mynahs, cockatoos, etc., was aired by the British Broadcasting Corporation. Must have been the cheapest program ever held.

A talking bird show might be interesting, at that — and not as feather-brained as it sounds.

It's estimated the average person speaks 5,000 words a day. No wonder, sometimes we find it too tough to get a word in even edgewise!

It takes a snail 10 years to travel the distance of one mile — Factographs. By the time it gets there it probably has forgotten where it was it intended to go when it started out.

The sun weighed twice as much five million years ago as it does now, claims an astronomer. These old cave men must have had some pretty hot summers!

This is the time of the year, says F.E.F., when we decide to do tomorrow what we should have done yesterday.

And then there was a cute young thing, according to the man at the next desk, who admitted she had thought the term "basic English" referred to slang used by baseball fans!

Married Pair Fails To Speak for 30 Years

CHICAGO (AP)—Nicholas and Dorothy Govess, married 47 years ago, lived in the same house for 30 years without saying a word to each other, an attorney told Superior Court Judge Harry G. Hershenson Monday.

They haven't lived together since last Oct. 1 when Govess, 69, a pie company executive, entered a hospital. He moved into a separate apartment after his release on Jan. 2. He wants a divorce. Mrs. Govess, also 69, wants support money.

Charles P. Fiduccia, attorney for Govess, told Judge Hershenson the couple quit talking to each other in 1930. He said Mrs. Govess induced a daughter, Marie Govess, now 44, to refuse to speak to her father, although all three lived in the same home.

The judge asked if there was any chance that the couple might forget the long, silent past and be reconciled. Fiduccia said no. Govess was used to a silent home and kind of likes it that way. He was granted leave to file a bill for divorce but was ordered to pay his wife $55 a week.

"They both are willful and foolish," the judge commented.

Toledo Edison Asks for Rate Increase

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo Edison Co. has asked the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for a 9.38 per cent rate increase covering 58,000 customers in unincorporated areas in nine North-western Ohio counties.

If granted, the increase would cost the average rural and suburban residential customers between $1.40 and $1.50 a month, a spokesman for the utility said.

The increase would affect residential, commercial and low-voltage industrial users in unincorporated areas of Lucas, Fulton, Williams, Henry, Defiance, Wood, Sandusky, Seneca and Paulding Counties.

5-Year Road Plan Worth $2 Billion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state highway department has drawn up a five-year statewide road construction program listing more than 1,000 projects with a total value exceeding $2 billion.

On relatively firm priorities, the department said, are projects totaling $800 million to be placed under contract through June 1963. The program includes jobs contracted at the seven bid-lettings held by the department so far this year.

Beyond June 1963, listings and priorities are tentative, the department said, and to allow for inevitable cancellations, the program contains about 25 per cent more projects than anticipated funds will permit.

The main project of the program is the interstate section, the department said. More than $1.3 billion in interstate expressway and freeway projects are included — enough to bring the 1500-mile system nearly to completion.

Also listed are more than 600 miles of non-interstate divided highways totaling $684 and bridge placements worth $51 million.

Count on a medium-sized lemon yielding two to three tablespoons of juice.

Stuffed Birds
Bring Arrest
Of Ohioan

CLEVELAND (AP) — A complaint charging Howard W. Martin of Timbelake, Lake County with illegally selling six stuffed migratory birds to Lake Erie Junior Museum in Bay Village has been filed in U.S. District Court.

Burt W. Griffin, assistant U.S. attorney, filed the complaint Tuesday at the request of Rex C. Tice, U.S. game management agent stationed in Columbus.

The charge was brought under treaty agreements between the United States and Great Britain and the United States and Mexico states. Griffin said the agreements prohibit the sale of migratory birds and are intended to protect the birds from annihilation.

The complaint charges that Martin sold one red-eyed vireo, one wood pewee, one cardinal, one tree sparrow, one swamp sparrow and one bronze grackle to the museum on April 12, 1960. Tice found the mounted birds on a visit to the museum.

Martin is to appear in court May 26 to answer the charge. The maximum penalty is six months in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

No One Too Old To Learn!

DEAR ABBY: I have a confession to make, but I haven't the courage to tell it to the person I wronged. She is my only and beloved daughter. When she was 19, she fell in love with a boy of another faith. I didn't want her to marry him and told her so. She tried to forget him, but if ever a girl was deeply in love, she was. When he went into the Service, she would mail him a letter every day. Now here is the part I am terrible ashamed of. When letters would come from him, I would tear them up. It was awful to see her looking for his letters, knowing I had destroyed them.

When he returned from the Service, he called the house and I told him she had married and moved away. (Not true.) He never called again.

Our daughter did meet a fine young man of her own faith. They are happily married and have a family. My conscience still bothers me. Should I tell her?

GUILTY CONSCIENCE
DEAR GUILTY: Forget it. And hope that other mothers won't meddle in the lives of their children "for their own good." Children need to be "guided" — but well-meaning mothers cannot lead their lives for them. You are lucky. Mother. Your daughter may never have found another love.

DEAR ABBY: My husband died nine months ago and I have continued to wear my wedding ring because I would feel "lost" without it. My friends say I am no longer married and I should not wear it. Are they right?

WONDERING WIDOW
DEAR WONDERING: Wear your wedding ring as long as you wish. Remove it only if and when you consider dating again. A ringless finger indicates "availability." It's a widow's privilege to wear her wedding ring forever if she feels like it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married 20 years and for the past 10 years my wife has cost me a fortune in doctor bills. She claims she gets "dizzy" if she is left alone. She also says that any kind of housework or cooking makes her dizzy. I have had to hire help to do everything. We have no children.

I have had her to one doctor after another, and they can't find a thing wrong with her. She has never fainted, but says if she is left alone she knows she will. I have paid people to sit with her. She goes shopping and belongs to clubs and is in the best of health and spirits, in company, but she refuses to stay alone one minute. I welcome your suggestions.

WORN-OUT HUSBAND
DEAR WORN-OUT: If she has gone "from doctor to doctor" and they can't find anything wrong with her, depend on it—there IS something wrong with her. Since the "dizziness" is in her head, that is where the trouble is. Take her to a psychiatrist.

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HEWS TO HER LINE—Elizabeth Velinsky, the Rome film actress who is known as the "All There" girl, uses this method to authenticate her title as she declaims against actresses who fill out their figures bogusly. She says the public is entitled to know how an actress shapes up, at least off-screen. Well, she can afford to criticize.

Here's Recipe For Prize Pie

CINCINNATI (AP)—Here is the recipe for "Peanut Streusel Pie" which Tuesday won the national junior cook-of-the-year award for Miss Bettjean Jeska, 17, of Swanton, Ohio:

1-3 cup of peanut butter; 3/4 cup of sifted confectioners' sugar; one 9-inch pastry shell; 1-3 cup of all purpose flour; 1/2 cup of sugar; 1/4 teaspoon of salt; 2 cups of scalded milk; 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten; 2 tablespoons of butter of margarine; 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla.

Blend the peanut butter with confectioners sugar until mealy. Sprinkle two-thirds of mixture over baked pie shell. Combine flour with sugar and salt in top of a double boiler. Stir in the scalded milk. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until thickened.

Stir a small amount of cooked filling into the egg yolks. Combine and cook several minutes longer.

Why Is Pentagon Mum about Cuba?

Editor's Note: Why the silence at the Pentagon in the wake of the Cuban invasion? When will the joint chiefs of staff be given an opportunity to tell their side of the story on the invasion failure? Fred S. Hoffman, Defense Department spokesman, covers these points in the following article.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — With blame for the Cuban invasion debacle starting to point more directly at them, the military chiefs have been barred by top-side orders from entering any kind of public defense or explanation.

This, on top of other recent actions muzzling the admirals and generals, has created resentment among some officers at the Pentagon who view the enforced silence on Cuba as setting up the military as a possible scapegoat.

However, an appearance before a Senate Latin American Affairs subcommittee later this week or early next week will give Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, an opportunity to present a case for the JCS.

Although military leaders are limited in what they can say publicly, these restrictions do not apply to appearances before congressional groups. If a congressman asks a question, he expects a military man to reply with reasonable frankness.

In the wake of the Cuban fiasco, the Central Intelligence Agency, the State Department, the White House staff and the joint chiefs have been criticized in varying degrees.

By means of "background briefings"—that is, informal news conferences and talks with reporters in which the source is not identified to readers—partisans of various U.S. officials and agencies involved have aired their viewpoints. They have said, in effect, "It wasn't us—it was the other guy."

Not so the joint chiefs. Besides Lemnitzer, this highest military body includes Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, and Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff. Gen. David M. Shoup, Marine commandant, also sits with the joint chiefs when corps matters are involved.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has passed the word that the Pentagon isn't going to get into the debate over who's to blame for the failure in Cuba.

This, officials said, is in line with McNamara's orders against public statements by military men on policy matters. They said it also takes account of President Kennedy's statement accepting responsibility for U.S. actions figuring in the disaster met by anti-Castro rebels on the beaches of Cuba.

KILLED HUSBAND — Karen Jacobsen, 23, sobs in Los Angeles County Jail after admitting she stabbed her husband Lawrence, 29, to death with a 10-inch butcher knife as they were driving in their station wagon with two of their four children. "He did not deserve what I did to him," she said. She also said, "He told me he was going to take me into the hills and get rid of me." Jacobsen was on probation for a record of family disturbances.

Ohio General Fund May Be 'in Red'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's general fund should show about $6 million when the bookkeeping year ends June 30, Finance director James H. Maloon says, but school payments could leave it the amount to be set aside for technically in the red.

Maloon appeared before the Senate Finance Committee Monday night as a hearing opened on the $2 billion budget bill. The measure provides the money to operate Ohio's state government from July 1 of this year until June 30, 1963.

When Maloon spoke of the $6 million expected to be shown in the general fund, senators noted that more than $16 million must be budgeted monthly for the school payments. In this case, the total won't actually leave the fund until August, when the next school payment is made.

DIPLOMATS QUIT CASTRO—Cuban Consul Hilda Portela and Second Secretary Antonio Montane talk to reporters in Mexico City after announcing they wished political asylum. Scientist Finds Gorillas Lead Peaceful Life

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gorillas, and a star atlas are news items from scientific studies:

Gorilla Lore
Gorillas lead a peaceful social life, and beat their chests not in threat but just to let out emotional tension. They sleep 15 hours a day, spend five more eating, and hike about half a mile daily in search of food.

Most popular ideas about gorillas are in error, reports George Schaller, University of Wisconsin zoologist who spent 18 months in close observation of gorillas in the Belgian Congo.

These largest primates depend primarily on facial expressions and gestures to communicate among themselves, and use only a few sounds. They pout when sad, bite their lips when nervous. Spaceman Cocoon Dangerous radiation threatens future space travelers. Heavy shielding could protect them, but that kind of weight is a drawback.

One possibility is to devise an electrical cocoon around a space vehicle, to deflect radiation much like the earth's magnetic field deflects cosmic rays and other radiation pouring at the earth. This possibility is being investigated now at General Electric's Space Sciences Laboratory in Philadelphia. The goal is to devise a lightweight "cocoon."

Star Atlas
Using special sensing equipment, astronomers are preparing a new type of star atlas charting the infrared or heat radiation of known stars.

One purpose of the project is to determine the relation between a star's visible radiation and its infrared radiation, which can be useful in developing systems for space navigation. Eastman Kodak Co. is preparing the atlas.

New Ohio Road Maps Are Offered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state highway department has begun distributing 650,000 new 1961 Ohio highway maps.

The department said the new map was made from scratch for the first time in 19 years. The many road changes and growth in the state highway system in the past two years necessitated making a new basic map, the department explained.

The maps are free to the public, the department added.

Only 3 per cent of the land of Algeria will support agriculture.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—It doesn't follow that because democracy works here it will elsewhere. In many places it hasn't. So the United States has to sell something besides democracy in a lot of places to keep them out of communism.

It has to sell a chance for a good life.

The Associated Press from Tokyo reports that the army revolt which Tuesday overthrew the South Korean government had strong allies in grinding poverty and social ills.

It was in the pattern of army revolts which abolished or changed parliamentary governments in the Congo, Laos, Egypt, Sudan, Turkey, Pakistan, Burma, Iraq and Thailand.

Everywhere around the world an American-aided government is in danger of overthrow by its army or communism unless it gives the people assurance it is working for their welfare.

What is the image of the enormously rich and powerful America going to mean to a poverty-stricken peasant somewhere if a Russian tells him:

"It took the United States 200 years to get where it is. And in 200 years maybe your country can be just as rich. But it only took Russia 40 years to become the giant it is."

"You're 35. Your life expectancy under present conditions is only 40. You have only five years left."

"Are you willing to wait 200 years in the hope your country will become another America or do you want a better life than this in a hurry for yourself and your family under communism?"

If an American then tells the peasant about the blessings of democracy it won't mean much if the peasant never really knew democracy.

Thus this country's problem with its foreign aid is to get the peasant's government to put into effect reforms and programs

Kennedy Sees U.S., Canada Stand United

OTTAWA (AP)—President Kennedy expressed a firm conviction yesterday that the United States and Canada will continue to stand together in efforts to build a world of lasting peace and justice.

In a statement prepared for delivery upon his arrival for a three-day visit, Kennedy declared that on his first trip away from the United States "it is fitting that I should come here to Canada, the oldest of our neighbors and among the closest of our friends."

"I am here," he said, "to repay the visit I received from your distinguished prime minister—to discuss the common problems which face our two nations—and to renew those ties of friendship and partnership which have bound the two nations so closely for so many years."

"The tides of foreign affairs swiftly ebb and flow, new nations arise — old empires vanish—alliances come and go. But throughout it all the historic friendship of your nation and mine has stood firm. Together we have stood in war and now in this long twilight era that is neither peace nor war we must stand together even more firmly than before."

"In the effort to build a continent of economic growth and solidarity—in an effort to build a hemisphere of freedom and hope—in an effort to build an Atlantic community of strength and unity of purpose—and in an effort to build a world of last peace and justice—Canada and the United States must be found, and, I am certain, will be found, standing where they have always stood; together."

which will give this poverty-stricken man reason to think he can have a better life without communism.

The Communists began early with their promises. Right after the war in Southern Italy before the first post-war elections Communists went from door to door promising them land of their own. That one the Communists lost.

President Kennedy himself in his speech last summer accepting the Democratic nomination spoke of the "one-third of the world" that is "rocked by pangs of poverty, hunger and envy."

In a general way he expressed his awareness of the remedy called for when in his State of the Union message in January he acknowledged the huge task:

"Our role is essential and unavoidable in the construction of a sound expanding economy for the entire non-Communist world helping other nations to build the strength to meet their own aspirations to surmount their own dangers."

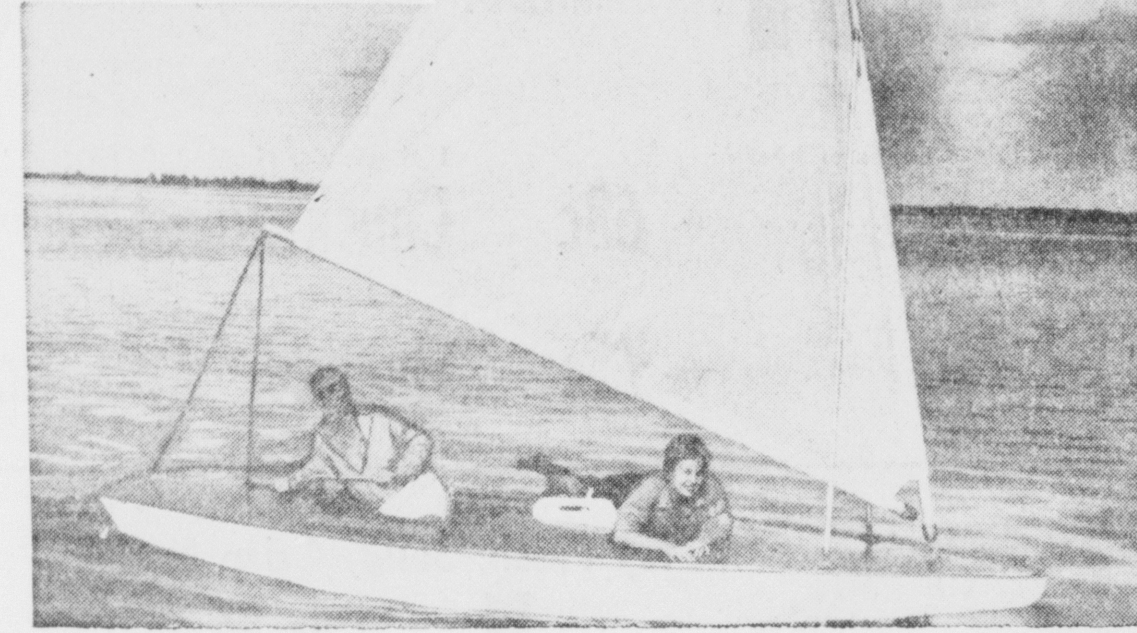

"The problems is achieving this goal are towering and unprecedented."

So far he has not attempted to talk to the American public on this problem at length—and with whatever solutions he may have in mind — except through news conferences and messages to Congress.

His message on foreign aid won't go to Congress for about another 10 days. There he may open up his thinking with concrete proposals in a way that hasn't been revealed yet.

REED CITY, Mich.—With a light breeze and under a bright sun, sailing has taken on a new look in the form of plastic or Fiberglass. Although the traditional sailor looks down on anything other than wood hulls, science has made this sport available to thousands of new enthusiasts. The new craft are lighter, require less upkeep and cost less. A plastics firm here has just announced a Beachcomber class sail boat 15 feet long and weighing 175 pounds. It carries 100 square feet of sail and features a mast supported by rigid stays, which are quick to put up. The main feature, however, is a specially designed planing hull, which minimizes tilt at fast speeds.

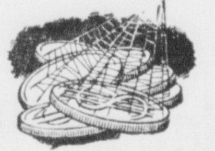

'Freedom Riders' May Try Again

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—More "freedom rides" to test the speed of desegregation in the South were hinted yesterday after an integrated group flew safely to end an 11-day bus-plane trip in Southern states.

The integrationists' journey ended here shortly before midnight but not before a violent reception in Alabama involving the beating of several persons and two bomb scares at a Birmingham airport.

Dr. Walter Bergman, a 61, former faculty member at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University, and a member of the traveling CORE unit, said the group found "absolutely no compliance" to desegregation.

Veto Override
Tops Assembly
Action Tuesday

The override of the governor's veto stole the entire legislative show, obscuring another "first" of this 1946-week-old session—Di Salle's allowing an act to become law without his signature. The measure concerned bringing back the pre-1959 grain handling tax on grain stored by processors, substituting it for the personal property tax.

Senators had one of their longest legislative days of the session Tuesday, remaining on the floor more than four hours. During that time, they passed without dissent an emergency bill on horse racing at fairs. It would permit a fair to conduct racing even if another meet is being held in the same county or within 50 miles at the same time.

If the House and governor go along, the emergency clause will make the bill effective immediately instead of after the usual 90 days.

The Senate also completed passage of a much-discussed bill which exempts some aides of elected county officials from civil service, and a measure banning job discrimination because a person is 40-65 years old.

Opponents of the civil service exemption bill contend it will be used as a tool in "to the victor go the spoils" systems, perpetuating some political dynasties with patronage jobs.

Action was put off until today on two bills that were substituted for the so-called community colleges bill killed in the Senate Education Committee.

Before winding up Tuesday's session senators did however approve and send to the House three bills, including one to bring Ohio's aid for the blind law in line with the federal statute by exempting the first $85 per month of earned income, plus one-half in excess of that, in determining need. Under present law, it's $50.

The House decisively defeated—62 nos to 58 yes votes—a bill which would have required a population of at least 25,000 before a city health district could be established. Opponents termed the population requirement arbitrary and said there is no evidence there's anything wrong with smaller districts.

Representatives completed action on a measure permitting owners of adjoining property to acquire township roads that have been abandoned 21 years or more — if county commissioners agree.

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Stark Ceramics Inc. says it has completed a $1,350,000 expansion program at its East Canton Plant.

John H. Stewart Jr., company president, said plant capacity has been increased by 40 per cent. The project included a new structural tile building and installation of two direct fire car tunnel kilns and a tunnel drier. The firm manufactures structural glazed facing tile.

Crying often Unnecessary?

Q. Is it natural for babies to cry?

A. Probably not. The belief that babies cry when they want something leads parents to overlook other ways in which babies try to make their needs known. The parents expect and wait for the baby to cry. The baby soon learns that he must cry to be understood. Quite possibly, if the baby's needs were met before he became distressed, he would not cry at all!

Heart Work

Q. How much blood does the heart pump in a day?

A. In the course of a day your heart pumps 10,000 quarts of blood through almost 12,000 miles of arteries. The heart is a highly efficient machine, more efficient and more enduring than anything yet devised by man.

The May meeting of the Ashville Methodist Fellowship Class was held Sunday evening in the church basement, with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sark and Liz and Mr. and Mrs. Wade Shreve serving as hostesses.

A "Silly Style Show" was featured with each person attending modeling the clothes that they had purchased at previous meetings (sight unseen) from other class members.

Movie films were made as each one modeled his outfit, with Mrs. Sark, moderating. Several had to restyle their fashions over to fit which proved to be quite interesting. Wade Shreve and Mrs. Lowell Ridenour were judged the funniest.

Refreshments of a pineapple dessert, gingerbread, and nutbread were served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Tom Purcell, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Ridenour, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Engle, Grace and Sue, Mr. and Mrs. James Flood and Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. William Trimble, Mrs. Joe Vause and Lucy, Mrs. William Snyder, Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Art Deal, Jr., and Dudley Rader.

A family picnic dinner was enjoyed Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peters when their children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren were in attendance. Those attending were: Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Cozard and family and Mr. and Mrs. Saul Rogels and family of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. E. Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Weiler and Carole, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Marvin Musselman and family of Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Purcell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Richard and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Thompson and family of Ashville.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bastian attended the Ohio Funeral Directors Convention the past Wednesday and Thursday held in Columbus at the Neil House and Veterans' Memorial.

Body Odor

Q. A neat, tidy person about 60 years of age developed a very offensive body odor. What could cause this?

A. This sort of problem is often difficult to explain and just as difficult to correct. Neglected personal hygiene isn't necessarily involved and use of spread-on deodorants often does little or no good. By way of encouragement, however, doctors treating certain patients with a new tranquilizer noticed that in several cases, marked body odor disappeared. Why this happened isn't known but further tests are planned. It may be that the physicians have hit upon a new approach to this very common problem.

Vegetarians—Cancer

Q. Are vegetarians less likely to have cancer than people who eat meat?

A. There is no medical evidence that vegetarians are less prone to cancer than are meat-eaters. The Bantus of Central and Southern Africa often have cancer of the liver and these people eat virtually no meat.

Businessmen Study
Community Progress

Four Circleville businessmen spent yesterday in Delaware studying community development in a Workshop for business leaders, sponsored by the Delaware Area and the United States Chambers of Commerce.

Charles Schieber, vice-president of the Circleville Chamber, who headed the local delegation, said on his return, "This Workshop was one of the most stimulating meetings I have ever attended." Such topics as chamber financing, committee activity, effective programming, were among the subjects discussed by the group.

Making up the local delegation accompanying Schieber were Nat C. Lefko, chairman of the retail merchants unit; Charles Boggs, chairman of the business education committee; Philip Smith, chairman of the agricultural committee; and Mrs. Tom Bennett, executive secretary of the local Chamber.

"We have a much wider understanding of the role which businessmen can and must play in community, state, and national development," Schieber further said, "and we intend to put into practice many of the ideas developed at this Workshop."

Frank Mueller of Washington, D. C., nationally recognized authority, and director of Workshops for the United States Chamber of Commerce, was the featured speaker and discussion leader. He and several experts from the Chamber conducted the sessions. Total attendance numbered 84 persons from 26 communities in this area.

Public Invited
To Observe
Special Classes

The Pickaway County Council of Exceptional (Retarded) Children today extended an invitation to the public to visit the classrooms provided for children here by the group.

Council members said county citizens are welcome to visit the classes at St. Joseph's School on W. Mound St. at any time. They said they feel the visitations will provide the public with a better understanding of what is being accomplished in the classrooms.

The council pointed out that the classes are for the benefit of the community. "Children coming here need more love and understanding than the average child and do not deserve to be located in an institution or sit at home doing nothing," they added.

The next council meeting is scheduled at 7:45 p. m. Thursday in the Probate Courtroom at the Courthouse. The public is invited.

The council's concession booth project Sunday at the Circle Valley Riding Club Horseshow, at the Fairgrounds, netted the group about $70. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Milken also became charter members during the day.

Irene Castle retains grace that made her famous 50 years ago.

Irene Castle Retains Charm That Thrilled Fans Years Ago

By DAVID MARTIN
Central Press Association
Correspondent

EUREKA SPRING, Ark. — In the years that just preceded and followed World War I, a beautiful slim figure danced gracefully before millions on the stage of the world.

She was Irene Castle, one of the most admired entertainers of the 20th century. With her late husband, Vernon Castle, she danced her way into the hearts of theater lovers.

Called the original beauty of her era, Miss Castle was responsible for changing the tastes and attitudes of many women.

Using daring showmanship, she was the first woman to "bob" her hair and the first one to go aloft in a balloon. And her smart, sophisticated dress set the style in fashions for years.

Today, Irene, still trim and attractive at 68, has made a successful transition from show business to private life. And she still has some definite opinions about women and fashions.

"If I am remembered for 100 years," she said recently, "I hope it will not be as a dancer or style leader, for customs change from generation to generation, and the exponents of fashion become footnotes in a book on a shelf."

Miss Castle, who has spent her winters on a five-acre fruit farm in the Ozarks here for many years, virtually grew up on the stage. While seeking a show business career, she met and married Vernon Castle, an Englishman appearing in a New York play.

Vernon and Irene formed a dance team called The Castles and originated a number of new dances. They performed in the top theaters in America and Europe. Meticulous in dress, the Castles soon became an international fashion institution.

"I really wasn't trying to set the style," Miss Castle recalled. "I selected my wardrobe for good taste and comfort."

Miss Castle originated the famous "Castle Bob," a short hair style that touched off a revolution and rescued women from long, unwieldy tresses.

The Castles hit the peak of their career just before World War I, which tragically broke up the great dance team. Castle gave up a $50,000 income and volunteered for the Royal Flying Corps in 1916. In February of 1918, he was killed in the crash of a training plane.

Although she was broken-hearted, Irene selected a new partner and resumed her brilliant career after the war's end. She retired from the stage in 1923, but her activities since then have kept her more than busy.

The principal interest of her life is the operation of the Orphans of the Storm, an animal shelter situated near Chicago. Financed by contributions, the shelter takes care of 15,000 dogs and 12,000 cats annually.

Since the death of her last husband, George Enzinger, Irene spends much of her time at a 35-acre estate at Lake Forest, Ill. Her last stage appearance was about 15 months ago in Florida.

Although she has been out of the public eye for many years, Miss Castle keeps abreast of show business and fashion trends.

Commenting on present fashions, she says, "Any woman will look well if she dresses becomingly. Nowadays, women don't seem to use any judgment in selecting their wardrobes."

"Some colors and styles they wear are perfectly hideous and entirely unbecoming."

"Most women now just wear clothes because they are stylish."

Speaking about show business trends, she says, "If some of the scandal and language that appear to be commonplace on the stage had occurred in my days, the public would have boycotted the theater."

Kennedy Woos Canada Help

More Latin American Activity Is Sought

OTTAWA (AP)—An important factor in President Kennedy's Ottawa visit may be his eagerness to enlist Canada in the Organization of American States and thus gain its moral—and perhaps financial—support for the U. S. administration's attack on the vast political and economic problems of Latin America.

The President's remarks on his arrival carried a hint of this. Though he spoke of the possibility of future differences between Canada and the United States, he stressed the need for the two North American neighbors to work together for "a hemisphere of freedom and hope."

In effect, the President would be asking the Canadians to declare themselves part of the hemisphere they occupy. This would mean closing ranks to meet problems engendered by the Cuban regime's adherence to Soviet philosophy and by what is considered an urgent need to protect other Latin American governments from Communist-Castroist pressures.

Kennedy's visit is being viewed in Ottawa as something far more important than a routine gesture of good will to an old friend and neighbor.

The Ottawa Journal carried a front-page cartoon Tuesday night depicting Kennedy dressed as a Boy Scout, asking money from a householder resembling Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker. The cartoon probably hit the nail on the head.

There is little doubt that the President wants the Canadians to dig deeper in their pockets to contribute more to the program of helping underdeveloped nations in general.

Canada already participates in the Colombo program of grants and technical assistance to Asian countries. The Canadians have offered to contribute to the new program of aid to India, an Kennedy probably wants Ottawa to raise the ante considerably.

But Kennedy's basic concern on this visit seems with Latin America and the OAS. Canada as a member of the OAS could be a growing conviction in some Canadian quarters that OAS membership could benefit Canada, too.

Cincinnati Burglar Is Accused of Rape

CINCINNATI (AP)—Three charges of rape and three of burglary of an inhabited dwelling have been placed against Mack Dean, 24, of Cincinnati. Dean was arrested Monday night. Police said he then admitted rape of two women last December and a 14-year-old girl last April.

Police said Dean has since admitted three more rapings. They said he told them he found the women alone at homes he was trying to burglarize.

Property Grab Said Sparked by Eichmann

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — Adolf Eichmann was described in court today as the sparkplug of the Nazi machinery that confiscated three billion dollars worth of Jewish property in Europe.

The Israeli prosecution of the Gestapo leader assigned to "Jewish affairs" in the Third Reich produced a pile of 80 documents, linking Eichmann to the most minute details of the property gobble-up.

It was Eichmann, Deputy Attorney General Ya'akov Bar'or said, who directed the precise methods devised to strip the Jews of all they had and even to make it appear legal in German eyes.

Letters from Eichmann to Gestapo offices in Nuernberg, Wuerzburg, Kiel, Bremen, Prague, Vienna, and other major centers outlined the procedures and in some cases contained admonitions against laxity.

Dr. Lund Slated At Rotary Meeting

Dr. Richard J. Lund of the Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, is scheduled to present an interesting program at the Rotary Club's Thursday meeting.

The Circleville Rotarians will gather at noon at the BPO Elks home for a regular luncheon and business meeting preceding the program.

The confiscation is the lesser charge against Eichmann, compared to the broad indictment that he supervised the extermination of six million Jews. The prosecution gave this phase importance to show that the property seizure was a definite sign that the Gestapo and the Nazi SS Elite Guard were well aware the victims never would survive.

As pronounced by its people, Laos rhymes with "how."

Shakespeare Play Collects 5 'Emmies' on Television

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Macbeth, William Shakespeare's tragic play, won five Emmies Tuesday night and stole the 13th annual TV awards show.

But there were other moments of low comedy and high drama: Barbara Stanwyck, who has lost her sponsor, won her first TV award, and—in the excitement—tore her dress. Bob Hope, nominated for the first time, suffered a stunning disappointment — but bore up manfully.

Macbeth won for best direction — George Schaefer; guest actor — Maurice Evans; best actress — Judith Anderson; outstanding drama; and program of the year.

Miss Stanwyck, nominated for four movie Oscars but never a winner, won on her first try in television.

As her name was called for best actress in a series, her beige dress caught on her coat.

She finally tossed away her coat and walked up to the podium with a torn dress. There she thanked everybody connected with her show.

Later she confided to a newsman: "I wanted to say I was the first Emmy winner to ever have her show dropped."

Her anthology series has not been renewed for next year. Raymond Burr, the defense attorney who never loses a case on the Perry Mason TV show, was named best actor in a series.

Fred Astaire, who has nearly as many Emmies as the television academy, won two more to make a total of 11 in his collection.

The veteran dancer seemed embarrassed to win again for outstanding performance in a variety show and outstanding variety program.

In other awards, the NBC news team of Chet Huntley and David Brinkley beat out President Kennedy's news conferences for best news program.

The President and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, however, did get a special Emmy for "the great debates." Neither showed to accept the award.

Tigers Defeat MT Team, 4-3

Weller's Pitching
Stymies Panthers

Circleville's Tigers survived a sixth-inning Miami Trace comeback attempt and held on to claim a 4-3 triumph in an SCO League baseball game last night at Ted Lewis Park.

The Tigers bunched their scoring, tallying a trio of runs in the third inning and one in the fourth. The Panthers counted a pair of markers in the third frame on triples, Lonnie Ayers and Bob Williams.

The visitors chalked up a single counter in the sixth to cut Circleville's lead to one, but tight CHS defense and the clutch pitching of Sam Weller prevented the Panthers from continuing their rally.

Weller, a big off his usual brilliant stride, fanned four men but walked only one. Corky Wilt, the Miami Trace ace moundsman struck out eight Tigers while issuing free passes to three.

MIAMI TRACE outbit the Tigers 8-6 but committed four fielding errors to Circleville's three. Each team stranded six men on the base paths.

The Tiger's next scheduled game is a May 23 home affair with another SCO loop club, Wilmington.

Coaches Set Football Meet

Prospective members of the 1961 CHS freshman, reserve and varsity football squads will get their first taste of "training" Thursday at a meeting after school in the old high school gymnasium.

Head coach Carl Benhase said that the meeting basically will lay the groundwork for the boy's individual summer training programs. He also noted that he and assistant coaches John Adler, Dick Fisher, Jim Lint and Jim Shaw will define what they expect of players in the way of grades, ability, responsibility and other matters.

Benhase will have eight lettermen returning from last year's varsity outfit, but noted that "We have no decisions made on players or positions. The boys will have to win their own slots by what they display to the coaches."

Benhase and his staff recently attended a coaches clinic and plan to incorporate several new ideas they received there into the actual team training program when it starts in August.

State Track-Field Records To Be Threatened at Meet

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP)—A record-crashing state track - field meet is shaping up for Ohio's high school cinder stars May 26-27.

State standards in three events were bettered last week as the scholastic athletes responded to warmer weather and neared their peak in various relays.

Dan Hughes of Grandview whipped through the half-mile in 1:56.8 to eclipse the 1:56.9 set 16 years ago in the state meet by Canton McKinley's Steve Orfanides. Cincinnati Taft's 3:21.2 for the mile relay at the Miami University meet was under the 3:23.8 state record set last year by Cleveland East Tech. And Dayton Roosevelt's John Henderson ran the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.2 seconds matching the mark of Marietta's Bob Foote and two-tenths under the state record.

Five other new leaders popped up this week in the listings made by Ed Chay of the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

They include Chuck Crawford of Dayton Roosevelt .487 for the quarter-mile; Henry Weaver of Mansfield .189 for the 180-yard low hurdles; Dave Evans of Akron South 27 3/4" for the broad jump and Jim Goings of Toledo Libbey and Perry Shazier of Hamilton Taft 6.3 in the high jump.

The half-mile in the state meet could be a classic. Challenging Hughes are state cross - country champion Warren Hand of Dayton Roosevelt and John Kolovich of Cleveland St Joseph with 1:58.2 clockings and Bob Miller of Upper Arlington with 1:58.7.

Cincinnati Taft in addition to bettering the mile relay record, matched Cleveland East Tech's state mark of 1:28.4 in the half-mile relay.

Other top performances of the year:

100-yard dash: Weaver, Mansfield, 9.8; Orr, Cleveland East Tech; Espy, Sandusky; Sugden, Akron Buchtel; Gordon, Canton McKinley and Marrow, Cleveland

Collinwood, all 9.9.

220-yard dash: Orr, 21.3; Sugden, 21.8; Waver, 21.9.

Mile run: Brose, Dayton Belmont, 4:23.2; Hand, 4:26.3; McCann, Cleveland St. Edward, 4:27.9.

Shot Put: Housteau, Youngstown Ursuline, 56.9; Johnson, Cincinnati Taft, 56.30 Duda, New Philadelphia, 54.10.

Discus: Bialous, Canton McKinley, 164.9-9; Hartley, Covington, 164.4.

Pole vault: Scruggs, Sandusky, and Hord, Kenton, 13 ft.; Waddell, Marion, 12-10 1/4.

Tom Rathburn No-Hits Lions

Ashville Wins 2-0
At Madison South

Tom Rathburn threw up a no-hit, no-run barricade against Madison South hitting and his teammates backed him up with seven singles as Ashville defeated the Lions, 2-0, yesterday on the Madison Countian's home diamond.

Rathburn, who gained his fifth victory against one loss, was in top form throughout the tilt, surrendering only one walk while striking out nine.

Only two Lions reached base the entire game. Whitaker was safe on an error in the first inning, and stole second base. He was stranded there, as Rathburn got the next two batters on easy plays.

Her walked leading off the sixth frame, but never went beyond first.

THE Broncos opened scoring when Roof walked in the second. Neal singled and went to second when Roof was thrown out attempting to reach third. Rathburn then turned slugger, belting a long single to drive in Neal with the only tally Ashville was to need.

In the fourth stanza Roof again walked, stole second and came across the plate on Neal's single to right field.

Flieri, Brown, Gregg and Cloud also collected one - basers for the winners.

Hill, Madison South's hurler, fanned eight men and walked six in his losing effort.

Ashville, now with a 12-1 record, goes to Jonathan Alder Thursday and to Cedarville Monday. The Broncos battle Triad in a makeup game next Tuesday at Ashville.

Dick Stuart of the Pittsburgh Pirates paced National League first basemen in errors last season with 14.

Cleveland's 7 Runs Fail To Beat Sox

BOSTON (AP) — Manager Jimmie Dykes of the Cleveland Indians was supplicating of late for his boys to start getting some runs to back the fine performances of the pitching staff. It was no sooner said that done.

After that 15-inning 1-0 cliff-hanger last Sunday, the Indians have gotten 6, 13 and 7 runs, respectively, in their last three games.

But against the Red Sox Tuesday night, the pitching cracked, and the seven runs went down the drain. In beating Cleveland 8-7, Boston got 16 hits—two more than the total of its previous five games. Cleveland collected 15 safeties.

Cleveland used four hurlers, as did Boston. Wynn Hawkins started for the Tribe and took his second loss against three wins. He was succeeded by Bob Allen, Johnny Antonelli and Russ Heman. Heman, who came on in the eighth inning, was the only one who didn't give up a run.

Cleveland picked up a pair of runs off Ike Delock in the first inning on Johnny Temple's single and doubles by Tito Francona and Vic Power. Three singles loaded the bases for Boston in their first. Hawkins then walked in a run.

Boston scored twice in the second to go ahead 3-2. Frank Mal-

'Willie The Shoe' Eyes 4000-Club

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The exclusive "4,000 club" of race riders awaited its fourth member today—jockey Willie Shoemaker.

The mighty mite was just five winning mounts away from the charmed circle as he entered the afternoon action at Hollywood Park.

Shoemaker had mounts booked in the first seven of the eight races on the card.

Members of the "4,000 club" are:

Johnny Longden, at 54 still going strong—he's riding here—and earlier this spring passed the 5,000 mark.

Sir Gordon Richards of England, who retired with a total of 4,780.

Eddie Arcaro, also very prominent in racing in his mid-40s, who scored his 4,000th victory in 1958, and is approaching 4,700 at Aqueduct.

zone hit a home run for the first tally. A single, a sacrifice and a double produced the second and chased Hawkins.

The Red Sox got single runs in the third and fourth off Allen. They added three in the sixth off Antonelli. Two singles and a force-out accounted for one run and

Jim Pagliaroni's homer netted two more. That put Boston ahead 8-3.

Hometown Mare Wins Lebanon Feature Pace

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Proterra, an 8-year-old bay mare, took an early lead, held it and won by more than two lengths in the feature pace at Lebanon Raceway Tuesday night. Her time was 2:10.0.

John Woeibkenberg, Lebanon, co-owner of Proterra, drove her. The other owner is John's brother, Herman. Proterra paid $8.40.

Pro Cage League Still Expanding

NEW YORK (AP) — President Maurice Podoloff took stock of his National Basketball Association today and — even in the face of opposition from the upstart American Basketball League — liked what he saw.

"For the first time in a long while," Podoloff said, "there was absolutely no talk at our board of governors meeting of shifting franchises. Last season every team in the league made at least a little money and all are happy where they are."

Tuesday, Baltimore was accepted into the league for the 1962-63 season bringing the total teams to 10.

"But that isn't the end," said Podoloff. "We have a bid from San Francisco, too. My personal feelings are that eventually we will have three divisions spread across the country."

Surprising Senators Stop Yankees; Win 4th in Row

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Washington's surprising Senators, allowing just 13 hits and five runs in five games, won their fourth in a row Tuesday night as southpaw Hal Woodeshick and reliever Dave Sisler checked the New York Yankees on two hits for a 3-2 decision. That pushed the Detroit Tigers who won 10-4 at Baltimore four games ahead of New York in the American League race.

The Chicago White Sox defeated Minnesota 5-4, Boston beat Cleveland 8-7 and Kansas City rapped the Los Angeles Angels 6-4.

The Yankees scored a run in the third inning on two walks, a ground out and a sacrifice fly. Woodeshick pitched a shutout until Mickey Mantle cracked his 10th home run with one out in the sixth. Their only other hit was an eighth-inning single by Bill Skowron, off Sisler, who had come on in the seventh and fanned pinch-hitter Yogi Berra with the bases loaded.

The Senators had 10 hits and scored all their runs in the third on consecutive singles by Danny O'Connell, Chuck Hinton, Jim King and Willie Tasby and a clinching sacrifice fly by Dale Long. Bill Stafford (0-1) was the loser.

Detroit scored 10 runs for the second night in a row at Baltimore with this barrage backing right-hander Frank Lary for his 100th victory in the majors.

Steve Barber (4-3) was the loser giving up a two-run homer by Rocky Colavito and a two-run triple by Bubba Morton in a decisive four-run fourth. Norm Cash also homered for Detroit.

Early Wynn (4-1) nailed his 288th victory with a two-out tie-breaking single for the White Sox in the eighth inning. Minnie Minoso's seventh-inning home run had tied it 4-4 for the Sox who three times came from behind. Loner Pete Ramos (3-3) had three of the Twins' six hits one a home run.

Jack Sanford pitched his first complete game in six starts for San Francisco Tuesday night giving up six hits for a 2-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs that gave the Giants a three-game lead in the National League race.

Pittsburgh took over second place by beating St. Louis 2-1 while Milwaukee dropped Los Angeles 5-3. Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia 4-2.

Sanford (2-3) walked none and struck out five. Orlando Cepeda with three of the Giants' hits off loser Dick Drott (0-1) and reliever Don Elston tied it with a single in the fourth. He singled and scored the winning run on Hobbie Landrith's single in the sixth.

The Braves beat Dodger southpaw Sandy Koufax (3-2) on a three-run homer by Frank Bolling that made it 5-0 in the fourth inning. Don Nottebart (2-2) and reliever Moe Drabowsky held the Dodgers to four hits.

A sixth-inning home run by Dick Stuart broke a 1-1 tie for the Pirates against Cardinal lefty Curt Simmons (1-3). Vern Law out since April 29 because of shoulder trouble gave way to a pinch-hitter after snatching out the Cards on four hits for five innings. Elroy Face (2-1) then came on and won it.

Marlins Face Home Problem

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The San Juan Marlins are in a dilemma today.

Despite a 4-2 loss to Richmond Tuesday night, they are only a game out of first place in the International League—but may suddenly find themselves deposed from their island home in Puerto Rico.

"We are not happy about the situation," General Manager Joe Ryan said today after hearing that IL president Tommy Richardson said the team might be moved to Charleston, W.Va., if details can be worked out.

He said he felt Jersey City, not San Juan, is the league's greatest problem, adding he could not understand why plane transportation could be considered so expensive.

Jersey City's game with league-leading Columbus was postponed while Rochester shut out Syracuse 8-0 and Buffalo beat Toronto 5-4 after Toronto took the double-header opener 12-5.

Richmond's Ted Wicand and Hal Reniff held San Juan to two hits. Rochester got all its runs on five homers. Steve Demeter clubbed two homers in the first game and drove in five Toronto runs, then he added another homer in the nightcap.

Body Hidden By Son To Keep Promise

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Ten days ago an 81-year-old woman died, but her son kept the body hidden in their home until he could save enough money to bury his mother near Newark, N. J., authorities reported today.

Trumbull County sheriff's deputies discovered the body of Mrs. Lydia A. Peterson Tuesday on the first floor of the dwelling on the southeast side of the city. A pink bedspread covered the body.

"Before she died I told her I would bury her back east beside her mother," Floyd Peterson, 48, a janitor, told deputies. "I didn't tell anyone about the death because I wanted to save enough money to fulfill the promise."

Deputies investigated after neighbors reported not having seen the woman for several weeks. They said they searched the house under pretense of making a tax survey. Dr. Joseph Sudimack, coroner, said the woman suffered a heart attack 10 days ago.

Peterson said his mother's half-sister identified as Rose Rose-grance, lives in Newark. Arrangements are incomplete.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Clouds began to appear over the state at dawn today. However, the nearest showers were located along the Mississippi River and farther west.

Prospects for fair and dry weather continued into the daylight hours.

Earlier this morning, skies were still clear and temperatures dipped into the upper 30s and low 40s over many sections of the state. Youngstown had a low of 36, Bel-air 38, Cleveland 40, Columbus and Marietta 42, and Cincinnati 51. All are expected to rise into the 60s or low 70s this afternoon.

Showers now moving across the Great Plains states are expected to reach the state tonight and continue into Thursday. The showers are associated with a low pressure ridge, and warm and cold fronts were located over Kansas this morning. This system is expected to cross Ohio Thursday, to be followed by dry, cool weather Friday.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average 2-4 degrees below normal. Normal high 70-72, normal low 48-52. Cool early in period, followed by warmer trend over weekend. Precipitation will average about one-half inch as showers Thursday and again late Sunday or Monday.

SOUTHERN CENTRAL OHIO — Temperatures will average near normal. Normal high in low 70s, normal low in low 50s. Precipitation will total one-half to three-quarters inch in light showers Thursday, showers over weekend.

Boat-Car Crash

FAST TEMPLETON, Mass. (AP) — Very few boats are involved in crashes with automobiles, but George Arsenault's boat was.

His brand new boat never had a chance to hit the water before it was wrecked on the highway by a car being navigated by an unlicensed boy of 15 driving his grandfather's car without authority.

Arsenault said he was driving home from his boat dealer, towing the boat on a trailer, when the crash occurred.

ELIZABETH BOGGES

Kingston Girl To Graduate

Miss Elizabeth (Betsy) Bogges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Bogges, Kingston, will receive a bachelor of science degree in nursing May 25 from Loretto Heights College, Denver, Colo.

Miss Bogges, a 1957 graduate of Pickaway Twp. High School, has been a member of St. Anthony's Student Council since 1958. She is a member of the Cap and Cape Club, the Colorado Student Nursing Association and the Student Government Association.

Miss Bogges' family, including her parents, brothers, aunt and uncle will attend the commencement exercises. Following graduation, Betsy and her family will vacation in Yellowstone National Park.

Miss Bogges will work as a camp nurse at Camp Woodhaven during the summer and expects to work in Long Island, N. Y., in the fall.

Maturity Date Nearing on Soybean Loans

The May 31 maturity date is approaching for 1960 - crop soybeans which are under nonrecourse price - support loans.

Marvin G. Steely, chairman of the Pickaway Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, today reminded farmers that they should be alert to market prices which will enable them to redeem their crops at a profit. The chairman pointed out that the so-called "equity" payments are no longer made in connection with the takeover of soybeans - or other commodities - pledged as collateral for price - support loans. Before 1959, such payments were made when the market price of a commodity under a price - support loan was above the loan plus charges.

Farmers, however, continue to be eligible to repay their loans before maturity, thus regaining full ownership of the commodity for whatever disposition they may wish to make. Farmers are encouraged to do this whenever it may be done profitably after repaying the loan plus interest.

Soybean growers who have purchased agreement on their soybeans and who intend to deliver their beans to the Government instead of redeeming them are further reminded that they should file for intention-to-deliver soybeans under a purchase agreement during the month prior to the maturity date.

Last Tribute Is Paid to Gary Cooper

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Eulogized as an unparalleled movie star of quiet integrity and great artistry, Gary Cooper was laid to rest Tuesday.

The simple, dignified rites for the actor, who died Saturday of cancer, was in keeping with the humble yet heroic movie characters he portrayed for more than three decades.

The greatest assembly of film stars in modern times—many weeping openly—attended the Solemn Requiem Mass at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Beverly Hills. Hundreds of ordinary citizens stood silently outside the church under leaden skies, respecting the family's wishes for a dignified service in contrast with the mob scenes that marred funerals of other matinee idols.

Neither his widow, Veronica, nor his daughter, Maria, 24, wavered during the services.

At the brief graveside rites, Cooper's mother, Alice Bracia Cooper, 87, widow of an English-born lawyer who became a Montana Supreme Court justice, sobbed openly. Tears also streamed from the eyes of comedian Jack Benny, one of six pallbearers.

Court Handle Is $5,777

A total of $5,777.25 was collected in fines, court costs, bond forfeitures and parking tickets in Circleville Municipal Court during April.

The report from the City Court also showed a breakdown of disbursements for the month was: $2,616.50 due to City of Circleville; $1,084.81 due Pickaway County and $1,055.25 due the Auditor of State.

A total of 167 new criminal cases were filed in the court during April; 162 cases were disposed of; and $265 in fines and costs were suspended in criminal cases.

Eleven civil cases were filed; 12 were disposed of; one marriage was performed in the court; and a total of $157.10 is due the City from civil cases.

A breakdown of the total collections showed $4,180 in fines and bond forfeitures; $1,427.50 collected in court costs; and $169.75 in parking tickets.

CCC Interest Rate Will Not Change

The interest rate to be charged producers and others on Commodity Credit Corporation price-support loans in 1961 crops will not be changed from the current rate, the Department of Agriculture has announced. The rate is 3½ percent per year.

According to Marvin G. Steely, chairman of the Pickaway Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, this action continues in effect the interest rate which has been charged by CCC on its nonrecourse commodity loans since the 1954 crops.

Honeymoon Over

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Magistrate Margaret Young probably won't be so sympathetic to honeymooners in the future.

A man in court for reckless driving explained he was on his honeymoon and asked if he could give a check instead of coming into court.

The magistrate agreed and accepted a $50 check for the fine. A few days later word was received the driver had stopped payment.

"... MY GOD, IT'S ME!"—Sitting in a Manhattan movie watching the documentary "Mein Kampf" about the rise and fall of Adolf Hitler, Marc Berkowitz, 29, was horrified to come face to face with his past. His eyes fastened on the hollow face (circled in film clip below) of a starved boy being liberated from the infamous Auschwitz death camp in Poland after the Russians seized the area from the Nazis, and he screamed, "It's me! It's me! My God, it's me!"
